

Exhibition Video Support Documents: Planning your story

Plan out slides simply first (Titles & general headings are fine for this initial stage)

1	2
3	4
5	6
7	8

Need more boxes? Make some!

Here is where you need to get specific:

Slide #	Description (What will the audience experience)	Media List ex: cc images, music references, voice recording
Quick sketch
Narration

Slide #	Description (What will the audience experience)	Media List ex: cc images, music references, voice recording
Quick sketch
Narration

Print as many of these as you need.

Wherever possible make your own content. You can make music for your background with GarageBand, take and edit your own photographs, record sound effects and narrations.

If you do use other people's work you must either use creative commons resources and cite them or follow fair use principles (explained below).

It is actually OK to copy other people's work as long as you:

1. Use only a small part compared to your work (proportional)
2. Are using it to say something original or comment on the work
3. You cite the work
4. You aren't making money off of it or causing the creator to lose potential money

All of these requirements make it safe to use other people's work ESPECIALLY IF YOU ARE USING IT FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES

Cool, hey?
